The Company insures on equitable terms, and at a fixed premium, every description of property. The Company is solely and exclusively responsible for losses OCCASIONED BY FIRE which may be suffered by insured parties.

The Insurance may be effected for periods ranging from one month to ten years. The total premium is payable in advance, in cases where the Insurance is effected for a term of one year or less; and annually where the term exceeds one year. In terms of from 5 to 10 years, payment in advance of 5 years premium, entitles the Insured to the reimbursement of one year's premium: or in other words the Company will only charge the premium corresponding to four years.

Payment in advance of ten year's premium entitles the Insured to the reimbursement of two year's premium; with a further abatement of 10 p: cent: on the premium corresponding to the term of eight years: that is he will only be charged with the amount of eight year's premiums—less 10 p. cent.

The Company furnishes guarantees of the highest character, from the fact of there being no other Fire Insurance Company, at a fixed premium, having its head residence in the Argentine Republic; and also from the circumstance of its large capital.

The Company's funds are deposited in the Provincial Bank.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1865.

THE GREAT SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

In the beginning of last month the Government of Buenos Ayres was notified of the termination of the works of this railway, nothing being wanting but the official inspection, and yet the line is not opened to public traffic: it is even to be feared that the Committee appointed for inspection will not conclude its labors in the present year. Meantime the injury caused to the Company by such delay exceeds £200 sterling per day; and that sustained by the public is wholly incalculable. At first, people were at a loss to discover the motive for the hostility of the Government to an enterprise fraught with such benefit for the country, more especially as the works have been concluded in a manner hitherto unknown in the River Plate, for solidity and workmanship.

But Minister Dominguez has rushed into print, and exposed all the grudges entertained by his Cabinet against the Company: the correspondence on both sides has savored of irascibility, while giving Mr. Parish opportunity to shew up Governor Saavedra rather unfavorably, and although the public feels little interest in lengthy discussions which seem to retard the opening of the line, the last reply of the Chairman of Directors deserves special notice, as completely contradicting some fallacies advanced by Minister Dominguez, and putting him out of court.

Mr. Dominguez asserted that the construction of the tramway was not forced on the Company, nor any violation of the concession attempted by Government. Mr. Parish quotes the concession. "The company may if it judge expedient prolong the line by a tramway from Plaza Constitucion to Plaza Monserrat, or other central locality." On Feb. 13th 1865, Minister Dominguez communicated to the Directors the following "resolution dictated by the Government"—The Government will recognise that the Campany has fulfilled its obligation as soon as the line is carried from the plaza Monserrat to the centre of Chascomus as indicated by the Municipality of that town and approved of by Government. On Nov. 20th the same Minister says:—"The tramway has not been declared obligatory by any official act."

Respecting the branch of the Western Railway from the Once de Setiembre to Barracas, which is a direct infringement of the monopoly conceded to the Great Soutern line, Mr. Dominguez asserts that it will make no competition with the trade of the latter from Barracas to the city, although so late as last June he laid much emphasis in his official notes to the Western Railway Committee "on the lucrative business in cargo and passengers which this branch exclusively would open up."

It seems to us that Mr. Parish and his colleagues have no need to continue a discussion with the Minister. Public opinion, in town and camp, both among natives and foreigners, is unanimously against the Government. What matters it to the public of Buenos Ayres and Chascomus that Mr. Dominguez and Mr. Parish are engaged in a paper-war? What pretext can the choice of a piece of ground in Dolores offer for delaying the opening of the line?

The railway is finished to Chascomus, and may defy the closest inspections of the ablest engineers in the continent: the law says it is to be opened after being officially inspected, and now this! it seems more time will be requisite to inspect the works than it took to build the line.

We notice an amusing remark by Mr. Parish, that some of the letters directed to him have not yet come to hand, although published in the papers. It is hard to suppose the Government wilfully guilty of such want of courtesy, but really some of Mr. Dominguez' letters must have been sent to the printers before the ink was yet dry, and we could only wish the same speed was adopted in inspecting the railway.

A DRIVE THROUGH THE QUINTAS OF MONTEVIDEO.

There is not a spot in the River Plate territory which possesses greater attractions of scenery and climate than the environs of Montevideo; during our last visit to that regenerated city, thanks to the kind attention of a polite English gentleman, who drove us in his open carriage through the quintas, we had an opportunity of judging of the scenic beauties of the place. There are persons no doubt of such vitiated taste, who see nothing beautiful or charming in Montevideo, its bay, Cerro, and suburbs; they express disappointment on entering the harbour, and land on the wharf with a sigh and a yawn that they cannot see the noble turret of Lezama's, the smiling edifice of the gas house, the imposing outline of Colon theatre or a half-moon white-washed custom house flanked by a delapidated mole. The Cerro for them is a sort of over-grown barranca, and the luxurious breeze that comes gushing from the Atlantic, a kind of mixture of the North wind and the Pampero: to our mind Montevideo is as far ahead of Buenos Ayres in climate and picturesque beauty, as Buenos Ayres is in trade, commerce, and population.

After an early dinner at the Oriental, Mr. Makinlay invited us to take a drive with him through the quintas, accompanied by Messrs. Duguid and Mc Kennon,—The day had been one of the hottest this year, but as we drove towards the outskirts, the balmy zephyrs from the South Atlantic freshened the atmosphere: we turned down one of the wide streets facing the Aguada, and soon were trotting at a Long Island plank-road pace, over the sands which we were informed is the race course of Montevideo. We passed an old tumble-down concern called the Cuartel Bastarrica, and with a rather heavy jolt crossed the Arroyo Seco which apropos is generally full of water: then we got on the main road which we followed but a few yards, and turned into the Reyes road.

The Reyes family is one of the first in Montevideo; they own immense landed estates and house property, the result of the untiring industry of a respected Irishman named O'Reilly; even during the lifetime of their respected forefather the Spanish corruption of Irish names had changed O'Reilly into O'Reyes, such is the similarity of sound between the y and the double ll in Spanish; posterity shook off the O, and thus we have the O'Reillys of Wicklow, the Reyes of Montevideo—but we must not digress—the road we now entered is we believe a short cut to M. Buschental's quinta; on each side lovely villas, and charming country seats presented themselves; first we passed the quinta of Sr. Canstadt, then a delightful 'rus in urbe' owned by an estanciero from Rio Negro, whose handsome daughters crowded at the gate, to see the pony carriage pass by. We left the Fioni quinta to our right and came up on the country residence of a wealthy Ligurian called De la Sopa, whose colossal fortune tradition assigns to some happy speculations in glass a few hours before a heavy hail storm. A turn in the road here, and we caught a glimpse of the McEachan quinta, a seductive spot which we believe has now passed into the hands of our esteemed friend Mr. Makinlay. On the other side of the road is a sort of Zoological garden, where all South American beasts birds and fishes live in one felicitous harmony: on went the ponies at an unbroken trot until we reached Rovero's quinta, and hard by the dwelling of an absent English merchant, Mr. Shaw. A dwarfish iron gate, with about 1,500 bricks piled one on the other was pointed out to us as the new entrance to the Buschental Eden. The new gate not being finished we were obliged to go up further to the less pretentious avenue which leads down to the quinta of quintas: as we drove down this antique lane, lovely fields of waving barley interspersed with a few wild oats met our eyes; the Australian gum on either side at a few yards apart, the old gate at the bridge is hidden from the sight in a glen, and on all sides smiling crops and the most luxuriant vegetation are seen. Concealed in the trees, is the dwelling-house of Mr. Buschental, which we had occasion to describe last year. As we pulled up at the gate, a perspiring Basque from a neat farm-house came running up, telling us the owner was not at home: none of our party expected to see him as it had been published in the 'Standard' that he was thinking of making a trip in the Arno: we turned our horses' heads, and again enjoyed the glorious drive through this enchanting avenue. When we gained the public road we paused to gaze on the scene before us. The sun was just setting, and its last rays shed a golden tint on the foliage and dyed the grassy slopes of the hill which overhangs the garden—the birds warbled their gayest song, the flowers gave out their most delicate odors. Down in the valley lay the bushy rendezvous of all the admirals, ministers, Governors, and politicians, whose names the future historian of this country will duly record, whilst as if to relieve the beauteous monotony of Nature's park, on the summit of the mountain stood Mr. Bells new mill, as yet unfinished.

As we emerged from this fascinating spot, we entered another road which winds along the base of the mountain: the scenery is so intensely rural that it reminded us of that spot which Moore immortalized

There is not in the wide world a valley so sweet
As that vale in whose bosom the bright waters meet

Truly, this place is the Avoca of South America! on all sides we saw evidences not only of cultivated taste but rural comfort. Flowers of the most variegated bloom decked the road on either side, orchards, graperies, neatly trimmed hedges; in the distance lay Montevideo, which from this point is seen to the greatest advantage: we drove by Mr. McKennon's quinta, but as it was getting late declined the invitation to enter. Esteve's quinta with blue pillars and rampant lions was the first alloy we met with—bad taste nothing more; away down in another glen we saw Mr. Swartzenburg's quinta, a leading shipbroker in Montevideo, and on the other side of the road, the shut-up mansion of the Jackson's: the place wears a deserted aspect, although we learned from Mr. Duguid that it is one of the prettiest around Montevideo. It was now getting very dark, and as we passed that Stigma on Oriental civilization called the Plaza de Toros we chimed that sweet old ditty.

Shades of Evening close not o'er us.

Flores' encampment again tortured our memory and awoke us from the dreamy charms of the evening. The English Cricket ground was also close by, but it was too dark to see anything and we drove into Montevideo with the carriage lamps lighted, after what we may well call a drive through Paradise.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Is the President in town or not? That's the question. Some say that he arrived at the Tigre on Saturday afternoon, and remained there all day on Sunday. Others insist that he was seen smoking a cigar and reading the 'Standard' on the 'azotea' of his own house in Calle San Martin. The whole affair seems to be a state secret. One of his aide-de-camps, Sr. Moreno, has arrived, and was seen in the Café del Plata. We have been running about town, trying to find out the truth of these stories; and, as far as we can find out, the President is expected but has not yet arrived.

General Canavarro, Colonel Lima, and the Commander of the Artillery, are placed under arrest, and ordered to be tried by court-martial for their conduct at Uruguayana. It seems that the principal charge against them is showing the white feather. The Emperor is highly indignant at their conduct. Had they held their position in Uruguayana and defended the town, the inhabitants would have been saved from the ruin and desolation which subsequently followed.

It is a rather significant fact, that while the Argentine and Oriental leaders are disbanding their cavalry, and sending the troops home on furlough, the Brazilians are strengthening their army by thousands of recruits from all quarters. We even hear that the Brazilian Government is actively engaged in enlisting in Europe, and paying very high bounty money. The obvious policy of the Rio Cabinet is to be prepared for the worst, and in case Argentines and Orientals should get tired of the war, the Brazilian army alone will be able to open up Paraguay.

On Saturday evening the Brazilian Minister gave a grand dinner party, it being the Empéror's birthday. All the Argentine dignitaries were present and the Foreign Ministers also. It was not so gay an affair, however, as the memorable dinner party at the La Paix.

The steamer Uruguay, from the Uruguay ports, arrived yesterday morning, bringing us our Entre Riano exchanges. The papers there are striving to cause a split with Buenos Ayres. Urquiza has not yet sold his wool. The wool buyers in Gualeguay and Gualeguaychu, have bought up all the wool of the province at such monstrously high prices, that they cannot sell in Buenos Ayres or Montevideo, save at a loss. Some Englishmen are travelling through the province looking for camp, but real estate is going up rapidly in that province.

Sunday was another fearfully hot day. There was an English 'pic-nic' at the south end; and in the northern suburbs Watson's hotel in Belgrano, and the Tigre, were the favorite resorts. Both the Boca and Northern Railways were crowded. These lines do an enormous business on Sundays. The dust in town however was so frightful, that there was no walking in the streets.

The new Spanish Minister was received by the Vice-President on Saturday. The speeches on the occasion were remarkably laconic, owing, no doubt, to the great heat of the weather.

Mr. Parish's last letter to the Minister, published in Sunday's 'Nacion,' took the whole city by surprise. Previously most people thought that the minister had the best of the argument, but the last letter of the Consul's completely 'floored' the Government. We regret, however, the polemic, and hope that the letters will be stopped, and the line at once opened. The delay is really most inexcusable, and calculated to do the country much harm.

We cull from the facetious chapter of Don Casimiro "a writer for the 'Nacion Argentina' the following extraordinary story respecting an English lady, name of course unknown. On Friday evening a rather prepossessing daughter of Albion galloped out to Palermo, her elegant attire, flowing locks and dashing appearance attracted great attention. Casimiro happened to be on the road when she passed, and immediated wheeled round and followed the lady at a distance, he watched her until she passed into the woods, and suddenly coming up on a private coach she got down and accosted the coachman who pointed out to a shady spot where his master was coolly reclining smoking a short meerschaum." Casimiro states that he discovered from the coachman the cause of the whole affair; it appears that the lady in question is wife of the gentleman, and that owing to his inveterate habit of smoking, a sort of conditional divorce was agreed on, a regular Mrs. Haller's case. Finding that her husband rather than forego his pipe spent his evenings in the lonely woods of Palermo she hastened out to make the 'amende honorable.' We give the story for what it is worth, not knowing any of the parties connected: the moral is that inveterate smokers are always fond of the weeds.

On Friday night during the stiff gale a small boat belonging to a Brazilian gunboat, plunged into the seething waters at the mole-head. If the gallant Admiral himself had tumbled into the river there could not have been a greater fuss, the Captain of the Port's boat was sent out to rescue the swimming Brazilians, luckily they were all picked up in time.

The old Villa del Salto now Provedor arrived on Sunday from head-quarters, she did not bring a single letter or paper, which has caused much surprize.

The body of the unfortunate young Suarez who was drowned on Saturday morning at San Isidro was found on Sunday and interred yesterday. This poor fellow was a young man of the brightest prospects, and had recently arrived from Paunero's army. He was no swimmer.

The Boca Railway Co. in a few days will run trains every hour, and will run along the new branch up to the mole at the Boca; this will be a great improvement. We call the attention however of the manager to put up gates at the road crossings. On Saturday a boy drove a cart on the line and but for the timely stopping of the train by the Engine-driver, there would have been a very serious accident.

The Quentin pamphlet, which has caused so much attention in Europe, refuting the charges of Alberdi about the present war, has at last arrived. As yet we have not received our copy.

A new dramatic company, composed of juvenile Orientals, has been started in Montevideo, and will shortly give a performance for the benefit of the hospitals.

The Esmeralda is expected in port to-day from Corrientes. She will probably bring us an interesting letter from 'Sinbad' and our navy friend.

The Rio Parana steamer, it is said, will be run on the Montevideo and Uruguay route, the Rosario traffic being deemed too small for so splendid a steamer.

MAILS FROM CORDOBA.

THE LAST OF THE RIOJA REBELS.

The 'Eco de Cordoba', 26th ult. is come to hand. We have some interesting details about the extinction of the gangs of 'montoneros' who so long infested Rioja, San Juan, Cordoba and San Luis.

Major Barros writes to the Governor of Rioja, under date Tama, Nov. 11th. "I have the honor to inform you of the happy result of our pursuit after the bandits, and self-styled Colonels, Bamba, Aguero and Zalazar. On the day before yesterday, just at the same time that Col. Vera captured Zalazar and killed Aguero, my infantry killed Bamba. They caught him in a wood, into which he had escaped, along with several others, including two rebel-officers named Carreras and Rosa, some of whom were slain in the first attack. The 'montoneros' are now completely trampled out, and have expiated with their lives for the track of ruin and bloodshed they have left in the Llanos. I have to congratulate Your Excellency on this happy issue, and make honorable mention of the troops under my command."

Capt. Sanchez writes to the same effect, from Ontiveros, Nov. 11th—

"It is 11 o'clock and I have just learned that Col. Vera has captured Zalazar and killed Aguero at Punta Tasquin. In obedience to orders, I have despatched two picquets to apprehend the few stragglers that may have escaped Vera."

Col. Vera's despatch from Atiles, Nov. 11th, is as follows—

"With the utmost pleasure I have to announce that, yesterday at 3 p. m., the valiant Major Gilbert Gimenez overtook and encountered, at Punta Tasquin, the rebel bands headed by Zalazar and Aguero; the first of these bandits was left dead on the field, the second taken prisoner, besides five others killed and three fallen into our hands. I have not time at present to say more, but believe Governor Campos will send you a detailed report. When Zalazar was passing through Sierra de Minas, he murdered Roman Ibañez, who had been formerly one of his followers."

A private letter from Rioja, dated Nov. 17th gives further particulars, from which we gather that the rebel-leaders had separated from their main body and were taken by surprize—

"On the 10th inst., the montonero-chief, Aurelio Zalazar, was captured, two of his Colonels, Jeronimo Aguero and Juan Antonio Bamba, being among the slain, besides 5 other officers taken prisoners. Colonels Vera and Barros and Captain Gordillo, having got scent of the rebel leaders, set off in their pursuit, following the track of their horses with the wonderful keenness peculiar to Rioja hunters. The rebels had come down from the Sierra towards Patquina, in the endeavor to escape by Famatina, but finding the troops on their trail thought it safer to double back by the Sierra. Vera and the others still tracked them by moonlight galloping 25 leagues without once drawing rein even for a drink of water, and at length overtook them at Tasquin, killing Aguero and Bamba, and capturing Zalazar, who was at once sent to Rioja for trial. It is a remarkable coincidence that this same Colonel Vera caught the Chacho, Peñaloza, at Olta on November 12th 1863, and now 2 years later he has taken the last of the 'montoneros' within 14 leagues of the same spot."

Another sudden death has occurred in Cordoba: a young lady fell back in the church and died without a groan. The 'Standard' agent, Don Rudecindo Ybaceta, so well-known for his efforts to promote the breeding of Angora goats to cross with the native goats, has established an auction—mart, mail coach office and land-ageney. The Tucuman diligence was detained outside the city by the rising of the arroyo Pucará. The Municipality intends to make reforms in the cleaning of the streets. Mr. Heyn has opened a fashionable hat-shop. Col. Gorordo and other officers arrived by diligence from Rosario.

MAILS FROM THE URUGUAY

URQUIZA'S ADIEU AT TOLEDO.

We have papers from Concepcion to the 2nd, and Gualeguaychú 3rd inst. The Entre-Rian cavalry has been all disbanded, and General Urquiza is at San José, but he has kept the artillery and infantry under arms, and is even strengthening their ranks with the vagrants and deserters sent in from the various departments. The papers still pretend that the desertions at Toledo were absurdly exaggerated, and that when the Buenos Ayrean journals reported the army dissolved, Urquiza had still 5,800 men obedient to his orders. Before disbanding his troops the Capt General issued the following proclamation:—

Toledo, Nov. 19th 1865.

His Excellency the President of the Republic and Generalisimo of the armies has ordered the disbandment of some of the allied forces. The retreat of the enemy into his own country, after completely evacuating the soil of the Republic which he profaned by his footsteps, the triumphs obtained over him, and the immense power assembled in defence of the national honor, have led to this step. I regret for the moment being prevented from marching in person with the army, but the Province of Entre-Rios will, nevertheless, have fulfilled its duty of aiding all in its power to the ultimate triumph of the national cause. Its name and honor as well as yours and mine, are seriously compromised herein. We retire, in order to guarantee law and tranquillity in the Province, whose forces are ever ready to face any danger. Whoever commits any disorder on the homeward march will be punished with all the severity of military ordinances, and whoever separates from the ranks treated as a deserter.

Justo José Urquiza.

The 'Uruguay,' Urquiza's special organ, supports the National Government and declares peace with Lopez impossible. The other papers use very threatening language, plainly foretelling a war between B. Ayres and Entre Rios as soon as the present campaign terminates. One journal has even the insolence to assert that Mitre's Government is like the tyranny of Rosas.

The prize of the Lottery ($4,000) has fallen this time to 3 boot-makers in Gualeguaychú, named Juan Rosso, Juan J. Freire, and Martin Echeverri.

NEWS FROM THE FLEET.

To the Editors of the 'Standard.'

November 24.

Gentlemen,

You will find the contents of this letter a little interesting. We had quite a day of steam-boating yesterday evening with our friends the Paraguayans.

Yesterday morning, at 11.40 a.m., We sighted a 'chalana' flying the British flag, and crowded with men, coming down the river. It was a sight that caused a good deal of wondering and a regular hub-hub in the squadron.

You could see the bridges and top-gallant forecastles of every steamer crowded with curious spectators, wondering what that spectacle meant.

Fortunately we had not to wait long, for in ten minutes afterwards we had the 'chalana' abreast of us, and the mystery was cleared up. This group of voyagers was the discharged crew of the little English steamer Flying Fish, lately sold, I believe, to the Paraguayan Government. We were informed by these voyagers that part of the enemy's squadron was, as I said before, at Humaitá, and the rest up the river. They also informed us that the coast was full of guards, who stopped voyagers every moment, causing a good deal of unnecessary inconvenience and loss of time.

Our friend, Lieutenant Lowry's watch of yesterday was destined to be, as it has been more than once already, one of excitement for this squadron. At 2.55. p.m the little steamer, Principe O'Done, got under weigh on her return to Humaitá. Just as she had got abreast of the Amazonas, she was hailed by the Admiral, for what we don't know, but one second afterwards the midshipman on watch on the bridge sang out that a steamer from up river was in sight. Lieut. Lowry, having taken a spy-glass, had hardly got it to bear on the object in question before he informed us that it was an enemy apparently reconnoitering. A moment afterwards every bridge and forecastle of every steamer was, for the second time in the day, crowded with spectators. A moment afterwards and the gunboat Ivahy was under weigh, with orders to reconnoitre, having slipped her anchor. We all thought an action was at hand, and felt quite cheerful. It was a moment of boisterous but pleasant excitement.

We watched the Ivahy making cheerfully under full speed for the enemy. We watched her getting nearer and nearer to her foe, and when everybody, judging by the distance between them, was expecting the next moment to hear the cheering announcement of an action, in the shape of the booming of guns, up went a white flag at the foretopmast head of the Paraguayan steamer. This threw us all aback: what a quantity of words, conjectures, arguments, &c., then took place I can well imagine, although not possible to detail.

You could plainly hear a murmuring sound all through the fleet: some said she was passing over, others that she had run aground and wanted to surrender without shedding blood; others that she brought propositions of peace, &c.; in fine, the fact is, that we saw the Ivahy nearing her, and no shots were exchanged. We noticed that the Paraguayan vessel remained steady, as if anchored, at the mouth of the Atajo river. Some attributed it to her being ready to 'hook it' up said river as soon as the Ivahy got too near.

When things got to this pitch Barroso despatched another gunboat, and our 'old man,' the Libertad, with orders to run up and find out who the enemy was.

Away went the Libertad full speed, At this hour, 4.30 p.m., the beach and azoteas were crowded with spectators. Shortly afterwards we noticed the Ivahy to stop within half-a-mile of the enemy and remain so until the Libertad got up and passed her. The Libertad, we noticed, steamed up alongside of the Paraguayan. The Ivahy turned round and came down the river.

The Libertad and the Iguatemy remained guarding the Paraguayan boat.

When the Ivahy got here it was sundown, and we heard shortly afterwards that she had brought the captain of the Paraguayan steamer Piraveve, late Flying Fish, whose name is Alonzo, formerly captain of the Igurey, when she was a packet. He was bearer of a large despatch to Gen. Mitre, which Gen. Barroso took ashore and delivered personally to Gov. Lagraña. A little after sunset the Libertad came down with the Piraveve astern of her, which latter vessel anchored alongside the Ivahy, in which vessel her captain was detained as a guarantee of her not getting away until Barroso thought proper. The Piraveve had no guns and very few men.

Of course the night was passed in the squadron in 'arguing the point' respecting the contents of the mysterious epistle sent to President Mitre. Some said 'suspension of hostilities to treat for peace,' others, that it was 'peace,' etc., etc.; however, so passed another excited day for this squadron.

It rained all night from the S.E.

Early this morning, though still raining, up went the 'yellow diamond' of Brazil, and the 'bright sun' of the Argentine Republic, and were answered by the appearance of the 'red, white and blue, and lone star' of Paraguay. At 8:15 a.m. the Piraveve got underweigh and bid us good-bye. As a matter of course she went away without an answer to the despatch she brought, consequently it will not be long before the Libertad will be sent with an answer, and then I shall have other interesting matters to inform you of.

This morning, as the Piraveve was steaming up the river, we sent the Admiral's gig with an officer to make some enquiries, and when she noticed that the boat was making for her she lay to. On his return the officer gave us the pleasant news that the captain had assured him that Captain Mazzini and some other officers were alive but kept as prisoners at Villa del Pilar. This cheering news will certainly be a blessing to his poor young wife. The universal prayer here is, 'God grant that it may be true.'

Judging from the condition of the roads, I think the 'chasque' bearing Lopez's despatch could not have reached the encampment before this morning. 'Veremos,' how soon and to what effect the answer is.

The movements of yesterday have thoroughly mystified everybody in the squadron.

CUEVAS.

HIGUERITAS.

From our Correspondent.

December 3rd, 1865.

The 'campamento' near this place lately occupied by the Brazilians presents a desolate aspect. The area occupied by the tents remains strewed with broken bottles and demijohns, old coats and shirts, used-up boots and shoes, empty sardine boxes and torn manuscripts—the 'borradores,' perhaps, of love letters; which are the most difficult of all letters to write well.

The sight of all these silent and motionless remains of the busy life that so lately occupied this quiet spot, produces upon one a sense of desolation, very different from the elastic sensation produced by the sight of nature's gorgeous carpet of rich green grass, enamelled with wild and beautiful flowers, that formerly covered this now trodden and naked ground.

The departure of the Brazilians is greatly regretted by the town people: no disorders, no insults, no robberies—not a single complaint to urge against this body of troops. The officers are only remembered with kind feelings, and their uniformly respectful and conciliatory conduct spoken of with admiration.

Strange, that a few days of personal intercourse amongst a simple population should be sufficient to annihilate the bitter feelings of hatred that counted its growth by dozens of years! yet, such is the fact.

It is so easy to cultivate and produce kind feelings in the hearts of a simple-minded population, that we cannot help wondering at the perversity that refuses to itself such an enjoyment, and that strive to embitter the feelings of all who come in contact with it. If such an army had encamped here two years ago, when the old 'mandones' were in power, nothing but quarrels and insults, and personal outrages, and robberies, and bitter feelings of hostility would have been the result. The power and fiendish perversity of these old tools of despotism are beyond belief. Those who read of such things fifty years hence, will regard them as exaggerations, no matter how truthfully they may be narrated.

Yesterday at noon the Brazilian war steamer Araguay arrived from above, bringing in tow a large 'ponton' that is now anchored in port and destined to be used as a deposit ship for coal to supply the Brazilian steamers ascending and descending the Paraná and Uruguay rivers. This morning the steamer returned to Salto to look after some sick men that still remain in that place, and on her return she goes to Buenos Ayres.

The troops in Montevideo which were said to have been destined for this place, have, we learn, gone to Corrientes.

A small saladero is now being erected here by Henry Zimmermann, Esq., which, if it succeeds, can easily be enlarged. As the products of the establishment can be shipped on board foreign vessels almost without expense—they can anchor within a cable's length of the saladero—it is highly probable that the enterprize will succeed.

It is singular that the steamer Uruguay rarely brings us letters or papers from Buenos Ayres. As this steamer arrives regularly every Thursday, there is no good reason why she should not as regularly bring the correspondence from Buenos Ayres as she does from Montevideo; of course she would do so if it were put on board of her.

LAMENTABLE ACCIDENT.

We regret to inform our readers of a melancholy accident which occurred on last Wednesday at Bella Vista, on the Parana. Mr. Alfred Purchase, a native of Cornwall, and Mr. James Anderson, of Bridge of Allan, both employed on the new steamer Proveedor, were bathing at the place in question, they both suddenly disappeared, it is thought in the quicksands, and as neither could swim, were drowned. A boat from the Rio Bamba was sent to the rescue, but too late. The bodies have not been found.

ON 'CHANGE.

December 4th, 1865.

Papor price of ounces,	$412½
Do. sovereigns	126½
First price of patacons,	25 70
Last do.	28 80

Cash sales, $4,459.

There was a sort of reaction on the specie market to-day, patacons opened stiff and closed firm, but the run on the banks for paper money still continues. Patacons have improved on time, and a disposition to buy for May and June; 32,000 were sold for Saturday at 25 55, and for Dec. 31st 86,000 at 25 95. In National Bonds the following sales were effected:

For Dec. 31st, 5,000 at 43⅞
" Cash 4,000 43¾
" Dec. 31st, 1,000 44.

Exchange has at last opened for the packet, and something was done to-day at 49¾, we even heard of one bill done at 50c. The rate has a decided upward tendency owing to the heavy shipments at present going on.

There was great talk on 'Change to-day about the alliance between Bolivia and Paraguay, and some brokers even went so far as to say that the province of Jujuy had been invaded, but we are in a position to contradict this story, having conferred with Dr. Matienzo, Bolivian Minister, who flatly contradicts the rumor.

The arrival of the President from head-quarters was also talked about. The origin of this rumor being the presence of one of his secretaries in town. Brokers seem to think that the President has no business down here until the war terminates, although many of the merchants believe that his presence in this city at the coming elections will be most necessary.

The paper dollar famine still continues and every day is becoming worse; people who want money now are obliged to take gold. On Saturday the squeeze was terrific—all the brokers in town were running about looking for paper money, with the best bills in the country to be discounted. Over two hundred thousand patacons were discounted on Saturday evening at 30 and 60 days at one per cent., two names. On 'Change there is nothing new spoken of save the great scarcity of paper money; the total amount in circulation is estimated at about 300 millions, when more than double that amount is required. On a close estimate it is calculated that it requires at least four hundred millions to pay for the wool, therefore, supposing that we had no other crop or industry in the country, the circulating medium is altogether insufficient. The population of Buenos Ayres is, say 180,000 inhabitants; for this number at least ten millions of paper dollars are in daily use. The population of the camp is 400,000, of which say fifty thousand are 'hacendados,' who require at least five thousand dollars per man, equal to 250 millions: it is obvious, therefore, that the total paper money in circulation is only equal to meet the casual demands of the population, throwing overboard altogether the now very costly staple of wool, but if to these we add the millions that are required by the saladeros, and the still greater sums in demand for the wheat crop, no man can shut his eyes to the fact that the paper money is absolutely and positively insufficient for the trade, commerce and business of the country. The evil is yet by no means at its height—precisely this time last year the stringency in the money market commenced, specie began to decline, paper money so scarce that the discount rate at the end of December ruled at 2 to 2½ per cent., and let it be borne in mind that last year we had forty per cent. less wool, half the saladeros shut up, and the wheat crop a failure, besides we had some ten or twelve millions more of paper money. These facts merit the attention of all our readers. What we want in Buenos Ayres is the same banking system that at present exists in Montevideo, and the bank monopoly once and forever done away with.

We had no advices from Montevideo to-day. We heard on 'Change that an English barque has been chartered there for the States at 7½ patacons, freights having risen suddenly. Mr. Gilmour, one of our leading American wool buyers, is down there at present, and it is probable that the Portena to-morrow [Tuesday] will bring news of increased activity in the wool market.

One of our leading German brokers exhibited on 'Change a photographic view of the interior of the Coliseum, which attracted general attention.

The following gentlemen have applied to become members of the Bolsa:—

A. Arteaga, C. D. Rosa, H. Füdicker, T. M. Selgas, E. Arana.

M. Casado, who applied to be admitted as a broker, has withdrawn his application, owing to ill health.

The shipbrokers are less communicative as business increases. A charter was effected to-day at reserved rates; we heard that it was the Pizarro, to load in Parnagua, for some of the unblockaded Chilian ports, at 36s.

'Messrs. John P. Boyd and Co. have placed the British barque, James Carthy, on the berth for Liverpool, at current rates.

The wheat crop this year promises such a magnificent yield, that it is believed at last Buenos Ayres will be able to export grain. We heard of some sales to-day, the wheat standing 'en pie,' at 50 to 60 per fanega. In a few days we hope to gather sufficient data to be able to give our readers an exact idea of the total crop this season. At a rough estimate, we are told it will be twenty times the crop of any previous year.

The saladeristos in Barracas are killing away fast; and, as a natural consequence, novillos keep rising in value. To-day two large troops from the south arrived, very fat, 2½ years' old, price 235 per. Out in the camp the price paid for 'carne buena' is 180 to 185.

In the wool plazas things are beginning to look very flat; burry wools are all going into deposit, and even the very best wools can hardly realise 85.

To English Capitalists.

Owing to our having already disposed of 9½ leagues of the 10 leagues of camp in Entre Rios, referred to in former advertisement, headed 'Important Notice,' we did not renew it until we had received instructions from the owner. He now informs us that he will sell another 10 leagues inlots to suit purchasers, preferring these to be English, Irish, Scotch, or American. The whole estancia has an area of fifty square leagues. The quality of the camp is excellent, with abundance of water. As the lots sold are not yet selected, we would advise parties interested to use all despatch in applying: of the land sold, 6½ leagues have been purchased by Englishmen.

Medianeros with sheep or with capital to buy, will also be received upon very favorable terms. At present no more 'puesteros' are required.

SAVINGS BANK.

BANK MAUA AND CO.

No. 103 Calle de Cangallo,
BUENOS AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate, Montevideo and Buenos Ayres that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depositary for their savings.

The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing, and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks, artisans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries, and other frivolities.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. of this city, following the noble example of their firm in Montevideo, now offer the same facilities in this city, and will open a Savings Bank at No. 103 Calle Cangallo, from Nine a.m till Three p.m on Week Days, and on Sundays and Holidays from Ten a.m. to Twelve m., for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mauá and Co is sufficiently known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare

The Bank of Mauá and Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighbourhood

Buenos Ayres, September 12, 1868.

REMATE

POR BENJAMIN NAZAR y Ca.

De 67 carneros Negretti sangre pura venidos por el buque 'Ludwig' que salió de Amberes el 5 de Agosto.—Por órden de los Sres. Roosen Hopmann y Ca. En su casa calle de la Victoria 154.

El Juevos 14 de Diciembre á las 11 en punto se rematarán á la mas alta postura y dinero de contado los especiales carneros que a continuacion se espresan.

37 carneros de la Cabaña del Baron de Schachten, conocida en esta. Estos carneros se distinguen por su lindo tipo negretti, finura de lana que tiene un lustre brillante y muy poblada en todas partes del cuerpo, como tambien igualdad en todas sus propiedades. Vienen entre estos 7 carneros que se habian reservado para el uso propio de la Cabaña y estos han sido obtenidos por favor especial.

17 carneros negretti de la Cabaña Raudnitz del conde de Stemberg en Silesia; esta Cabaña prueba su origen directo de España y por eso posee la gran constancia en la sangre que da la seguridad en el procreo. La lana es muy fina, de un largo mediano y de nobleza de caracter incomparable. En estos carneros vienen refinadores de lana inmejorables.

7 carneros de la Cabaña Kwigenburg y 6 carneros de la Cabaña Uebelgoenne, estas Cabañas son casi iguales. En tipo vienen los animales mas sobresalientes que hay en carneros negrettis y la mas son de lana estraordinariamente larga, fina y tupida.

2 carneros de la Cabaña de Giochauin estos animales dan un vellon de gran peso; uno de ellos pasará de 22 lb. de lana.

A los Sres. Hacendados recomendamos la valiosa partida de carneros que tenemos desde hoy en exhibicion en nuestra casa; una de las mejores recomendaciones que podemos hacer de ellos es que son escogidos de las mejores y mas afamadas Cabañas de Alemania, por el Sr. Don Alfredo Rosenthal autor del librillo La Oveja Negretti en el sentido de la produccion de lana en paises transatlanticos.

Todo elogio que se haga de estos carneros es poco comparado con el valor de ellos y esto esperamos que sea dado por los Sres. que se dedican al refinamiento en este ramo.

POR EL MISMO.

The Bienhechora offers three various modes of Insurance to its subscribers: 1st, with the loss of capital by the death of the Insured party; 2nd, without loss of capital in said event; 3rd, with mere compound interest.

In the first form the Insured party has a right to:

1 To compound interest on the bonds purchased by the capitals received by the Company.
2. To a propertionate share of the capitals and interest of those who die in their respective sections.
3. To a proportionate share of the Capitals and Interests of forfeited subscriptions.
4. To a proportion of gains resulting from increased value of the National Bonds acquired by the inversion of funds.

In the second form the Insured claims
1. Compound Interest on the National Bonds purchased by the Association,
2. A proportionate share of the Interest due on the Capitals of those who die in the respective sections, which capitals are returned to the subscribers
3. A proportion of the interest due on forfeited shares.
4. A proportionate share of the profits arising from the increased value of the National Bonds, acquired by inversion of funds.

Finally, in the third form, gives a right to the corresponding interest produced by the Bonds purchased with their subscriptions, and the successive reinvestment of such interest, effected quarterly, when the coupons are paid up by the public treasury.

So marvellous are the benefits arising from the employment of Capitals in Public Funds, assisted by the combinations effected by "La Bienhechora," based upon the Mortality Tables of Deparcieux, and the interest produced by the 6 per cent. Consolidated Bonds, that taking for a model, the result given by other companies established precisely in the same form and basis, but with an accumulative interest much inferior to that gained by the "Bienhechora," that it is enabled to present as positive the following tables showing the gradual progression of capitals for a subscription of:
